The Script

GOAL: A CONFIRMED DEMO & FIT CALL WITH [CLOSER], BOOKED LIVE BEFORE YOU HANG UP. 5–12 MINUTES.

BEFORE YOU DIAL

DNC-scrubbed · 8am–9pm their time · demo tested on your phone · owner's name · one true detail (reviews, a service, the site gap) · Calendly open with two slots in the next 48 hours.

01 Open

0:00 – 0:30

> "Hey, is this [First Name]? ... [First Name], it's [Your Name] from Vanguard. I'll be honest, this is a cold call. Can I take 30 seconds to tell you why I'm calling, and you tell me if it's worth more?"
>
> Wait for the yes, then use the line that fits the lead.

No website	"I was looking up [niche] in [city] and found [Business Name], [4.8 stars, 120 reviews], which is great. But there's no website, just the [Google listing]. So we went ahead and built you one, a demo using your services and info. I'm calling to see if you'd want to see it."
Weak website	"I was on your site and noticed [there's no way to book online]. We built a demo of what an updated version could look like, using your services. Wanted to see if you'd want a look."
Callback	"You told me to try you [today] about the site we built for [Business Name]. Is now still OK?"
No-show	"We had you down with [Closer] at [time]. Totally get it, things come up. I've got [slot] or [slot]. Which works?"
Front desk	"Hi, it's [Your Name] with Vanguard. We built a website demo for [Business Name] and I'm trying to reach [Owner / whoever handles marketing]. Are they around?"

02 Discovery

0:30 – 6:00 · ASK, THEN STOP TALKING

THE BUSINESS

"How do most new customers find you right now?"

"If you could fill your calendar with one kind of job, what would it be?"

"If ten more of those came in next month, could you handle them?"

ONLINE RIGHT NOW

"When someone Googles [Business Name], what do they find?"

"Have you ever had a website, or tried to build one? What happened?"

"Ever had someone say they couldn't find you, or went to a competitor who had a site?"

INVESTMENT & WHO DECIDES

"Have you put money into marketing before: ads, a site, anything? How did it go?"

"So nothing on the call surprises you: the demo is free, and if you go ahead, most of our builds land around two thousand, one-time. Is that something the business could do if it brought in more customers?"

"Is it just you who decides on something like this, or is there a partner who'd want to be on the call?"

THE 1–10

"On a scale of 1 to 10, how important is getting a proper website up for [Business Name] this year?"

"What's keeping it from a 9 or a 10?"

Write their answer down word for word.

03 Reason for the call

6:00 – 7:00

> "OK, so you want more [their words], and right now people Googling you only find [the Facebook page]. That's exactly what the demo was built around. The next step is 20 minutes with [Closer], who built it. They'll show it to you on screen, change whatever's off, and you'll both know whether it's a fit. Fair?"

04 Objections

ACKNOWLEDGE · ANSWER · BACK TO THE CALL

"How much is it?"	"Fair question. It depends on what you need, which is what the call figures out. Most of our builds land around two thousand, one-time, and the demo itself is free."
"We already have a website."	"Yeah, I saw it. That's why I called: [specific gap]. The demo fixes that. Worth 20 minutes to see if it's better?"
"Just email it to me."	"I can. Honestly though, it lands better when [Closer] walks you through it and changes things live. Can we do [slot]? I'll email the confirmation right now."
"I need to talk to my partner."	"Makes total sense. Let's get them on the call too, so you both see it at once. What time works for both of you?"
"I'm too busy."	"Totally get it, that's usually a good sign. When does it slow down? Even early next week, before you open?"
"What's the catch?"	"No catch. We build demos so owners can see it instead of imagining it. If you like it, the call is where you hear how it works. If you don't, you lose 20 minutes."

"How'd you get my number?"	"It's listed publicly on your Google profile. That's how we found [Business Name]. Is this still the best number?"
"Not interested."	"Totally fair. Can I ask, is it the timing or the website itself?" Firm no: thank them and stop. "Don't call me": do-not-call list today.

05 Set the call

7:00 – 10:00 · BOOK IT LIVE

01	"Let's get you in with [Closer]. I've got [Tuesday at 11] or [Wednesday at 3], your time. Which works better?"
02	"What's the best email for the invite?" Read it back letter by letter. Book it in Calendly now, while they're on the line.
03	"I just sent it. Can you check your email? It should say Vanguard and [day, time]."
04	"Is this a cell I can text a reminder to?" Only a clear yes counts. Log "SMS consent: yes, [date/time], verbal" in GHL. Otherwise email only.
05	"[Closer] blocks that time just for you. If anything comes up, you'll let me know so we can move it, yeah?"

06 Close out

LAST 30 SECONDS

> "Can you pop it in your calendar now, while we're on? ... Perfect. You'll hear from [Closer] before the call with the demo link. Anything you want them to look at first?"

After you hang up: move the opportunity to Booked with yourself as Setter Assigned, then post the hand-off note in the Slack booking thread within 5 minutes: situation, their words, ballpark reaction, 1–10 and why, main objection, decision-makers, SMS consent.

07 Voicemail

UNDER 25 SECONDS · ATTEMPTS 1 & 6

> "Hey [First Name], this is [Your Name] from Vanguard. We built a demo website for [Business Name] and wanted to walk you through it. Takes about 15 minutes. Give me a call back at [number], or I'll try you again in a couple of days. Talk soon."

Book it live.

NEVER: EXACT QUOTES, DISCOUNTS OR PAYMENT PLANS · PROMISED RESULTS · TEXTS WITHOUT CONSENT · PRETENDING TO BE SOMEONE YOU'RE NOT.